(Many Thanks to SueAnne McClory, Kenneth Ives, Richard W Ives, Susan Ives-Burns, and Deb Hannah for their assistance & information!)

The geographical, topographical, or cultural entities that were searched for inclusion in this document include (but are not exclusive to): river, island, butte, cove, canal, cape, pillar, tongue, bank, mesa, peak, point, wash, camp, cemetery, hollow, reservoir, creek, dam, park, tunnel, brook, glade, pond, flat, ridge, company, bridge, bayou, ridge, basin, rapids, knoll, outlook, grove, branch, falls, glacier, canyon, graveyard, mine, run, gulch, spring, plot, pass, hill, arroyo, mountain, forest, drain, bay, fort, highway, street, byway, avenue, road, lane, circle, way, court, drive, trail, place, boulevard, thoroughfare, artery, track, route, parkway, terrace, alley, settlement, expressway, pike, freeway, thruway, trace, turnpike, plant, building, tower, warehouse, station, square, estate, plaza, airport, hall, cabin, corporation, depot, church, fountain, library, museum, gallery, castle, center, school, corners, well, ranch, farm, campground, amphitheater, post, windmill, theater, and aqueduct . Note: streets, avenues, drives, roads, circles, etc. all are noted under the general rubric of “thoroughfare.”

The Gazetteer entries are listed below by State / Province / Country, then by county / subdivision withing that initial location, and then by the alphabetical order of the specific entity name within each county / subdivision. To make perusal easier, table rows are not split between pages. Please note that any feature or entity that is named “St Ives” rather than just “Ives” is not listed in this table.

While some of the 'Ives' for whom a feature or entity is named are identified in this table, most are not – pending the ever-ongoing research of the compiler and the myriad of other Ives researchers! While this listing is considered thorough (300+ entries), it must never be considered as exhaustive I never will claim to have found all Ives features and entities).

Ives Peak	Summit	Yavapai	Arizona	I am about 99% certain that the Ives Peak in Arizona was named for Joseph Christmas Ives. The name first appears on a map prepared by 1st Lt. Amiel Whipple of the army's topographic engineers, in the 1850's. Whipple had been ordered to mount an expedition to survey a potential railroad route across the South West. His second in command on the expedition was non other than 2nd Lt. Joseph C. Ives. Whipple never said "I named this mountain for Joe Ives", but its the reasonable conclusion. Ives Pond (historical)	Farm Pond / Reservoir	New Haven	Connecticut	In Meriden;; “the pond is located at the end of "Dog's Misery" slough (which still exists in culverted form), the pond appears to be located on the exact spot where the Ives farm existed, as indicated on the 1770 Meriden map, and the "Ives Pond" name itself strongly suggest to me that the pond is indeed the site of John Ives' farm. Mind you, while on the 1770 map "Dog's Misery" slough is shown, there is no indication of a pond. I have a feeling that at some after the the map was drawn the slough was dammed and the John Ives farm site flooded to create Ives Pond.” (thanks to Richard Ives!) http://www.topozone.com/map.asp?lon=-72.7759314&lat=41.513431&datum=nad83 http://itouchmap.com/?r=b&e=y&p=41.513431,-72.7759314:0:0:Ives%20Pond

Best guess might be that it was named for either Butler Ives, or his brother, William. These brothers were professional surveyors, and did some pioneering surveying work in the Oregon Territory, which back then included the present day states of both Washington and Oregon. All land in that area is described relative to the Willamette Meridian, and the Willamette Meridian was originally located and laid out by William and Butler Ives. I have no proof, but the peak being named for one or the other brother, or even both, seems a reasonable guess.
